CLASSY FIELD IN ROLLER RACE

Best Skaters in Intermountain
Country Entered for Six-
Day Event.

The big six-day roller skating race, in which teams from nearly all the principal cities of the Intermountain country will compete, starts on Monday evening at 9 o'clock at the Auditorium rink on Richards street. The contestants will race thirty minutes each evening and will receive 50 per cent of the gate receipts. The money will be divided 50, 20, 15 and 5 per cent to the four winning teams. This race will mark the close of the roller skating season at the Auditorium, and every effort has been made by Manager O'Mara to make the event a success in every respect.

The teams that will be watched closely in the race are those representing Salt Lake, Logan and Butte. Schatz and Hardy will be the local speedsters, while the Green brothers, a couple of fast boys, will represent Logan, and Reynolds and Bradford are here from Butte. They won the recent six-day race in the Montana city, with Schatz and Hardy second. The Green brothers of Logan are considered among the fastest skaters in the state. Last year young "Banty" Green defeated Schatz at Ogden, and is confident of doing so in the six-day race. The Butte team is in excellent shape, as also is the Salt Lake team, as both competed recently in races. In addition to the teams mentioned there will be teams from Cheyenne, Denver, Colorado Springs and other cities.

bunch of horses being handled by the trainers than in any previous year, for not only is the stabling capacity of the local plant taxed for stalls, but the number of promising performers at both gaits is regarded more numerous. F. G. Jones, president of the Memphis Trotting association, has a young speed marvel, so regarded, in the shape of a 2-year-old by St. Vallan-Vincent, the latter a member of Mr. Jones' grand circuit string a few years back. The baby has been named Envil, and his engagements will be as numerous as it is possible to make for his class. Among the other youngsters in charge of Geers are Direct Hall, Jr., a brother to Reprochless, 2:04½, and a son of Chimes, which has been christened Theoplan. Theoplan is a 4-year-old and is the property of D. C. Streeter. Direct Hall, Jr., is a son of the unbeaten Direct Hall, with which Geers swept the grand circuit. The colt's dam is Regent's Last.

Carried Top Weight and Captured Gebhard Handicap,
Worth $4,280.

Oakland, Cal., April 2.—Flying Squirrel captured a neck victory over Glennadene in the Gebhard handicap at Emeryville today. The winner carried top weight and was favorite throughout the betting. The race was worth $4,280 to the owner. Royal Tourist was clearly the best in the Harper handicap and won easily from Stanley Fay and Don Enrique. The race was an attractive one and with fine weather prevailing there was a large attendance. Results:

Fifth race, mile and a sixteenth, selling—Cowan, 9½ (Glasner), 9 to 2, won; Rubric, 10 (Monty), 9 to 1, second; Woolen, 10½ (Kirschbaum), 2 to 1, third. Time—1:20 2-5. Niblick, Anna L. Daley, Rockstone, Severus, Import, Coppers and Okelint finished as named. Sixth race, five and one-half furlongs, handicap—Booger Red, 11½ (Walsh), 5 to 1, won; Pajarotta, 11½ (Tahiti), 11 to 5, second; Cloudlight, 10½ (Doverich), 8 to 1, third. Time—1:10 2-5. Dame d'Arc, Westbury, Smiley Corbett, Madman, Rose Queen and Woodcraft finished as named.

At Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, April 2.—Polls, an added starter and coupled in the betting with Sir Ashton as the R. L. Thomas entry, captured the Collin stakes at Santa Anita this afternoon. Sir Ashton, his stable mate, was second. Six starters contested for the prize. Char took the third prize, after a desperate drive with Maltbie, who easily beat Guy Fisher for the place. Jockey Page fell from Bell of Brass in the second race, but luckily escaped unhurt. Results:

S-P-O-R-T-O-L-O-G-Y

BY W. D. RISHEL.

The Salt Lake bicycle fans who happened to visit the old saucer track at the Salt Palace during the past week, saw a pile of old lumber scattered over the arena and a few sticks of timber leaning up against the seats here and there, all that is left of the famous rapid course. It all means improvements. The old track has seen its day, and had to give way to a faster one sooner or later to keep up with the increased speed of the motor and pace followers.

When Manager Harry Heagren secured a lease on the track this year, a provision was made in his contract that a new surface be put on the track, and while this was being done to improve the lines of the track to make better speed, the track has been torn out during the week, and a force of carpenters will be put to work at once to rebuild it. Heagren says that the old bumps that it proved so dangerous to the motors will be entirely eliminated, and that the stretches will have a gradual raise into the end banks. This will allow the riders to take the turns without losing themselves or changing their position in any way, which means more speed. The track was built for a speed not to exceed a mile a minute and fifteen seconds, and this was considered beyond the limit of human endeavor ten years ago. But the riders have even done better, and only stopped when the better, and only stopped when the speeders refused to longer hold the speeding motors. The new banking will allow a speed of a mile a minute, and records may be expected to go flying this summer.

Salt Lake and Baseball.

For the last ten years the writer has insisted through these columns that Salt Lake City was one grand old baseball town. Some of the chronic kickers have thought otherwise, but when a crowd of 1,500 fans will turn out as they did last Wednesday to see the cast-offs of the Chicago White Sox play a crowd of local boys who have not seen a uniform for several months, it is going some. Had the weather conditions been favorable, a crowd fully twice as large would have been present, but every fan who attended the midweek game knew it would be impossible to play real baseball on account of the muddy diamond. They also knew the local boys did not have a ghost of a chance against such men as composed the Chicago line-up. It only goes to substantiate the oft-repeated statement that Salt Lake City is a great ball town, and, if given half a chance, will support the game with any other town in the country.

Delaney Sidestepping Ketchel.

Billy Delaney is sidestepping Stanley Ketchel with his man Al Kaufman. Delaney has a great name in the prize ring as a handler of champions, but he cannot make the public believe he has anything better than a second-rater in Kaufman. Delaney recently challenged Jeffries on behalf of Kaufman, and called the champion of them all a coward because he refused to tie up with a man who is looked upon by the public as a false alarm. This was not a kindly act in Jeffries' old manager, nor did it make him any friends. If Kaufman is sincere as a fighter,

Nick Got Away With It.

Of course, we live out in the bushes and don't know anything about baseball, according to the Wisheimers of the city, but just the same that play of Altrock's last Wednesday when he caught Castro off first looked very much like a well-developed and healthy balk. The rules say that "any motion of the arm, shoulder, hip or body, that the pitcher habitually makes in his method of delivery, without immediately delivering the ball to the bat," is a balk. The fans who saw the game will remember that Altrock "wound up," and 90 per cent of those who were watching the pitcher thought he had started to deliver the ball, when he suddenly turned and threw it to first. It may be a case of "lese majeste" for a "busher" from Salt Lake to criticize a White Sox player, but just the same Nick slipped one over and got away with it.

Why Not Tom Sharkey.

Tom Sharkey came to life long enough this week to hurl a challenge at Jack Johnson for a fight. The challenge brought out a long laugh from many of the fight fans. But why not Sharkey, if Corbett's recent defies are to be taken seriously? Surely no one doubts that Sharkey has not a better claim to recognition than Corbett. Didn't Sharkey make a better showing against Jeffries than Corbett? Didn't Sharkey fairly defeat Corbett twice, although a fixed police force robbed him of the decision in one case and a fixed crowd for Corbett stopped the fight in the second attempt, when Sharkey had Corbett all but out? Sharkey might not be able to make much of a showing against Johnson, but of all the old-timers and once famous fighters, Sharkey looks today as the best of them all.

White Wings for Salt Lake.

During the week just passed the writer has been called upon a number of times to settle the question of when the Salt Lake team first received the name of "White Wings." It seems that a bunch of local fans have started a big argument about it, resulting in several bets being made. These bets have been passed up to various persons in the city to settle, and some "authority" has been giving out a mighty bum steer. The name of "White Wings" was first given a Salt Lake team in 1901, when Salt Lake was a member of the State league. It was because the Salt Lake team wore natty white uniforms, and the name was generally accepted by the entire sporting public of the state.

Decision on Joke Order.

With all due respect to the national commission, the decision handed down last week giving Pitcher Henderson to Cleveland is more or less a joke. It appears that the title to this pitcher from the Portland club was secured by Boston, and the player in question refused to go to the city of culture and beans, and jumped to Stockton in the California outlaw league. Later Portland opened negotiations with Cleveland and transferred its claims on Henderson to the Ohio city. The matter was taken up by the national commission for adjustment and, after a careful consideration, that august body announced that Henderson goes to Cleveland.
